Chase Takes Part in Trifecta of Luxury Gatherings

ZEPHYR COVE, Nev. (Nov. 5, 2015) – Never ceasing to pursue excellence, Chase International agents attended three top luxury events last month. Their efforts to further elevate their status as the leaders in luxury real estate, took them to Who's Who in Luxury Real Estate, Leaders in Luxury and the Inman Luxury Connect in Beverly Hills.

The Who's Who in Luxury Real Estate was the 20th annual gathering for Regents from around the world. The Seattle event included industry experts and panels discussing trends and keys to success including how to capitalize on connections that are all one phone call away from a billionaires market.

Luxury Connect featured more than 300 luxury brokers and agents from Hong Kong to the Hamptons and highlighted successful growth strategies. The Leaders in Luxury event took place in Puerto Rico and was an invitation-only event for real estate professionals specializing in multi-million-dollar properties.

"Leaders in Luxury attendance is limited to proven professionals in the luxury home niche," said Laurie Moore-Moore, founder of The Institute for Luxury Home Marketing. "This gives LIL attendees the opportunity to build an exclusive network of contacts focused on the upscale residential industry, while sharing ideas with the best in the business."

Attending the Who's Who in Luxury Real Estate Conference were Chase International Realtors Alison Elder, Debbie Hansen, Kerry Donovan, and Susan Lowe. Donovan, Kristina Matson, Tilly Mezger, Mike Marrone, Alex West, Mary Kleingartner, Trinkie Watson and Donna Spear took part in the Luxury Connect event. Watson also took part in the Leaders in Luxury Conference.

"These events gave us unparalleled opportunities to meet with other top tier luxury agents across the nation," said Kerry Donovan, vice president of luxury real estate at Chase International. "To be able to share knowledge and collaborate with professionals from around the globe gives Chase agents the edge and drive to deliver more.”
